I just sent the following letter to Admiral Gromlich:

Dear Admiral Gromlich:

I served as the Mayor of Waldport, Oregon for five years. During my tenure, I helped compose the city's disaster preparedness plan. More than any other central coast community, Waldport has many infrastructure and residential neighborhoods sitting at sea level, directly in the path of a tsunami. The presence of the Coast Guard was a major component of our planning, and the community would lose a large segment of its population without the Coast Guard there to assist.

Please keep the current Coast Guard resources where they are. The consequences for the communities of the central Oregon coast are a matter of life and death.

Thank you for considering my views.
