Bayfront Quest

Established: July 2009 by Alexis, Alyssa, Carlos, Ciana, Connor, Dyana, Emma, Faith, Gavin, Killian, and Taco, with help from Laura and Cait. Rhymes created July 2010 by Laura, Mike, and Brennan Archer.

Box Monitor: The Port of Newport

This Quest takes place at Newport's historic bayfront, and it highlights the local commercial fishing industry. Students (ages 10–12) attending a Quest-building day camp at the Hatfield Marine Science Center created the Quest route and directions. The Archer family provided the rhyming verses. We would like to thank the Port of Newport, Local Ocean Seafoods, Oregon Sea Grant Extension, and Schiewe Marine Supply for the tours and interviews they gave that helped us learn about the working waterfront.

The Bayfront Quest traverses level boardwalks and paved sidewalks, and takes about 45 minutes, round-trip, to complete. To begin, park in the public lot behind the Mariner Square shops, or along Bay Blvd., near Port Dock 1. Follow the directions and collect the letter clues to fill the numbered squares on the last page of this quest.

Let's begin!

Walk through the arch to Port Dock 1
Here you'll find lots of fun.
Look over the edge; what do you hear?
Find big marine mammals near this pier.

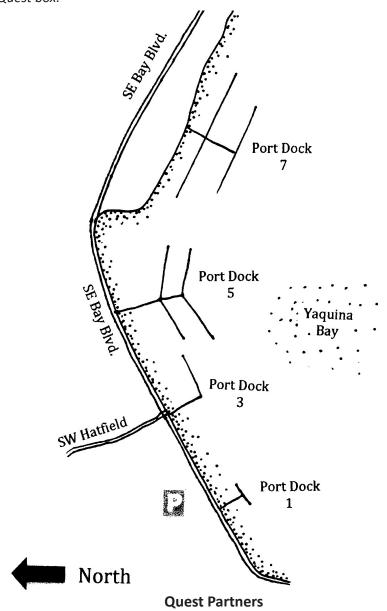

What mammals are these, Trying to soak up the sun? Read the signs, please. Your Quest has begun.

QUESTion for the Curious

What's the difference between sea lions and seals?

The answer to this and other questions are in the Quest Box at the end of your journey!

Use this map to help you solve the Quest. Follow the directions and collect the letter clues to fill the numbered squares on the last page of this Quest. The message you complete will help you find the hidden Quest box.

HMSC Summer Camps • Oregon Sea Grant Extension • Port of Newport • Local Ocean Seafoods • Schiewe Marine Supply

The first letter of the state From which they come Happens to be your Clue number 1.

Look closely, and you will see A forehead bump called a sagittal crest. It forms on males at least 5 years old, Younger than that, no bump—no jest!

Go back to the street
And cross where it's best
(in the crosswalk, of course!).
Now continue your Quest.

Go right and walk toward big trees, Then look up to your right. High up on the wall Will be such a sight! A whale of a tale Is painted on the wall. What is its name? Can you recall?

The artist signed the painting, As is typical to do. The first letter of his name Is clue number 2.

Continue past buildings
Colorful and bright.
Part of the "working waterfront"
Can be seen on your right.

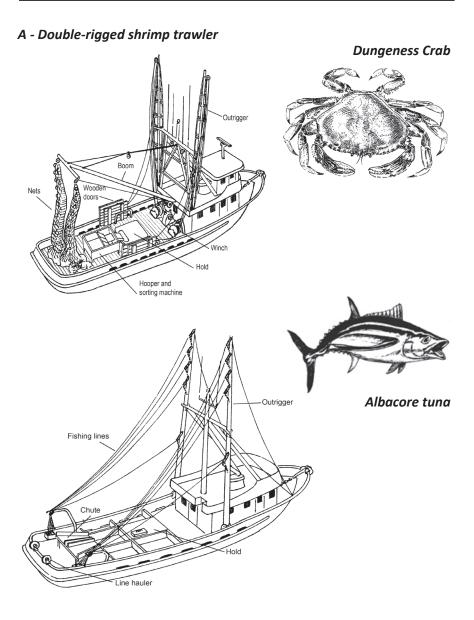

Small, mighty vehicles Carry loads and make tracks From the buildings to trucks Awaiting fish packs.

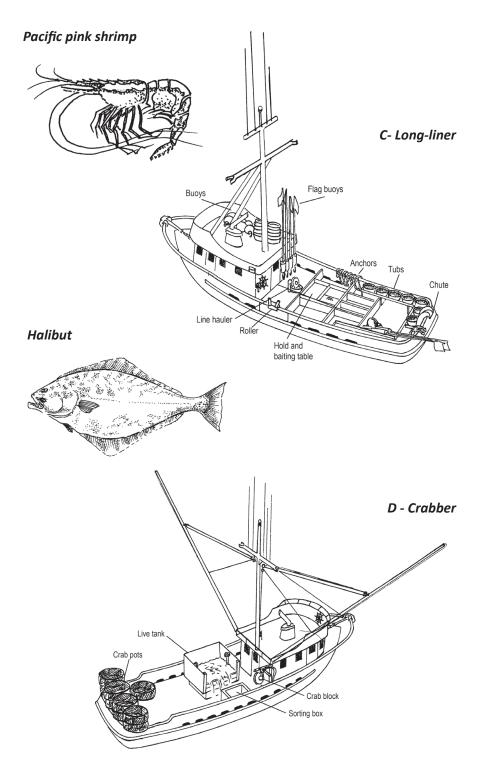

The blue buildings are
Where they process the fish.
Boats bring it to sell
To markets, and then to your dish!

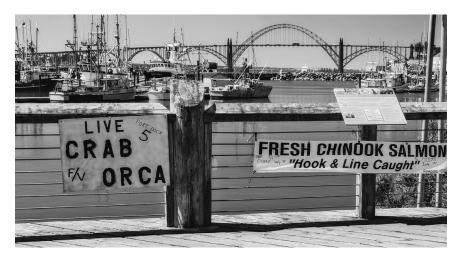

Some fish is frozen, Some is bought fresh; Some is used as bait, And we eat the rest.

Cross SW Hatfield Drive. Turn right and cross Bay. Look down the alley; What does that sign say?

FRESH CRAB, it is here; But what kind, do you think? Newport is famous for This crab that turns pink. Different types of boats are specialized to catch different types of seafood. Draw a line to match the animal to the vessel that catches it. Look along the docks to see if you can see these boats.

This tasty crustacean Is a treat from the sea. The third letter of its name Is clue number 3.

Walk left on the wooden boardwalk. Look at the boats on your right. This is a working waterfront; It's busy all day and all night.

Commercial fishing in Newport
Brings in money at a rate
That surpasses the tourism industry.
It's one of the largest ports in the state.

As you walk, look out
At the boats once again.
Can you name some of the catch
These vessels bring in?

Crab, tuna, halibut, Pink shrimp, and rockfish, too. Lingcod, Pacific whiting, Salmon and sablefish, to name a few! Along the bayfront
There are stores and shops.
Fishermen can buy supplies
Or put up their feet for a stop.

Now find the arch That says "Port Dock 5." Use the pictures on the earlier pages To ID the boats before your eyes.

Can you see a long-liner?
What about a shrimping boat?
Some boats may be rigged for tuna;
Some hold crab pots afloat.

Some vessels may have More than one type of gear. This makes it easier To keep fishing all year.

QUESTion for the Curious
What's the difference between trawler and a troller?

Look at the drawings and find The trawler with wooden "doors." This boat has a big net That it uses offshore.

What kind of seafood
Does this boat pursue?
The letter next to the name of this boat
Is your number 4 clue.

Before leaving Port Dock 5 Look across the street to see The name of a museum Below numbers 333.

Exhibits inside are about People and the ocean blue. The letter part of its logo Is your number 5 clue.

But for now, continue east On the wooden boardwalk... Cross the driveway, look down, Find a special sidewalk.

The job of a fisherman
Is a dangerous one to do.
Survival suits are on board
There's one for each of the crew.

We lose two or three
Fishermen each year.
Engraved in this sidewalk
Are names we hold dear.

Follow the names to the sign For the seventh dock on the bay. The most common vowel on the sign Is clue number 6, Hooray!

Turn right at the sign
To see quite near
A parking lot full
Of crab pots and gear.

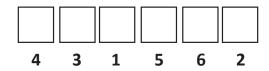

These traps are lowered To the sandy sea floor, Where unsuspecting crabs Walk in through a door.

Look closely at a crab pot. See a line and a float. The markings and colors Match up to a certain boat.

Usually crab season
Begins December 1st.
Crabbers catch them then quickly
'Til their boats almost burst!
